Get your smoked glass ready for the eclipse of the sun this morning.

It will take the delegates about as long to get over the convention as it had done to get through with it.

Up to this writing the convention seems to have forgotten that there is any other candidate to be nominated.

Wonder what effect the defeat of Governor Smith will have on the tone of legislation by the Georgia Solons now in session?

When the convention reaches the nominations of other candidates it will hardly waste much time on that part of the proceedings.

Charlotte preachers must not feel aggrieved if many of those convention delegates who may attend church today go to sleep during the sermon.

We do not suppose it makes any difference to President Castro whether or not our Government has a representative at the Venezuelan capital.

The Durham Herald says that "there is nothing at issue and all this fuss is being made over the office." It forgets about the honor—and the salary.

It is claimed that Bryan has enough instructed delegates to nominate him on the first ballot. If this be so still the Johnson men ought to show their strength.

Some politicians seem to think just because it is politics any action is excusable no matter how reprehensible it would be considered in a business transaction.

You have to go away from home to hear the news. The Wilson Times states that "reports reached it" about that protested game in Wilmington that the captain of the Wilmington team "assaulted, or attempted to assault" the umpire. This is news to those who attended the game, and slight effort on the part of the Times editor would have shown him the incorrectness of the report.

What can be the objection to the public being informed as to the price received by the authorities for the State building at the Jamestown exposition? The people paid the money for building the structure; then they have the right to know for how much it was sold. Keeping the price secret is liable to make suspicious persons think there is something about the transaction the public would not approve of.

KITCHIN THE NOMINEE ON SIXTY-FIRST BALLOT

Col. Ashley Horne Withdrew, Leaving His Supporters Free to Choose Between Other Candidates—Riotous Demonstration Follows Effort to Make it Unanimous—Other Notes.

For Governor — William Walton Kitchin, of Person County.

For Lieutenant Governor—William C. Newland, of Caldwell County.

Convention at 12:35 o'clock This Morning Adjourns to Reassemble at Noon on Monday.

(By Assciated Press.)

Charlotte, N. C., June 27.—Accompanied by a riotous demonstration, the deadlock in the Democratic State Convention over the nomination for Governor of North Carolina was broken tonight by the selection of Representative William Walton Kitchin, of Roxboro, who for six terms has represented the Fifth district in Congress.

The nomination was effected at 8 o'clock after three score ballots had been cast in a four-day contest. Kitchin's majority was 44. Kitchin, Locke Craig, of Buncombe county, and Colonel Ashley Horne, of Johnston county, were candidates. Horne withdrew after the announcement of the 59th ballot and with the votes then thrown to Kitchin the contest was over. Great excitement prevailed when it was moved to make the nomination unanimous and the chairman had difficulty in restoring quiet.

The convention has been in almost continuous session since Wednesday at noon and the nomination required sixty-one ballots. In every respect the contest has been remarkable. Lined up against Kitchin were Locke Craig, of Buncombe county, one of the most popular Democrats in the State, and Colonel Ashley Horne, of Johnston county, a prominent business man. Behind Craig were the United States Senators, many Congressmen, leading newspaper men, and many of the ablest party leaders. When the deadlock came efforts were made to throw Horne's support to Craig but when the little breakers came, Kitchin got the lion's share.

The attempts to introduce a dark horse failed utterly. In the closing hours today, Kitchin's opponents reversed the tactics of throwing Craig's support to Horne. This play falling, the Craig supporters took the last desperate chance, and Horne withdrew from the race at the last minute in the hope that most of his strength would go to Craig.

Then came the sixty-first ballot. Kitchin received a majority of 44 votes and amidst a riotous demonstration, the nomination was made unanimous.

The defeated and the unsuccessful candidates made speeches counselling harmony and after a recess of forty minutes the convention began balloting on the rest of the State ticket.

At 12:35 (Sunday) the convention adjourned, after nominating W. C. Newland, of Caldwell county, for lieutenant governor but without naming the delegates at large to the Denver convention or reaching the balance of the State ticket. The convention will re-assemble at noon next Monday.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Charlotte, N. C., June 27.—The gubernatorial deadlock was suddenly snapped this evening after three and a half days of terrible strain and fighting of every inch of the ground when Col. Ashley Horne appeared in the convention hall and in a high toned, and at times, touching address, announced his withdrawal from the race.

Immediately thereafter a ballot was taken which showed that W. W. Kitchin was nominated governor by a vote of 473.59 to 381.72 with a complimentary vote of 1.59 to Mr. Horne. Following the 61st ballot on which Mr. Kitchin was nominated the audience went into the greatest confusion, shouting, waving hats and handkerchiefs and making a remarkably fitting demonstration to the Governor-elect.

Speeches were made, following the nomination, by Aycock, Kitchin, Craig, and others and the event concluded with extreme expressions of good will on all sides. The last ballot taken before Horne's withdrawal was approximately Kitchin 397, Craig 321, Horne 140.

After several other addresses including one by Mr. Tillett, who nominated Mr. Kitchin, the latter was brought forward and made an address expressing his thanks and gratitude for the honor bestowed upon him, saying, in part:

"We have fought this fight without hostility and inside the party lines. The pleasant rivalries between the candidates have been settled by this convention and I can say that there is no more feeling in my heart against any of my former competitors than there was 12 or 18 months ago. I shall expect that the friends of yesterday of Kitchin shall be with the friends of the other candidates, all friends from whom aid and support in the fight against a common enemy shall be expected."

Mr. Kitchin expressed his entire belief in the people and in their help in carrying out the laws and legitimate enterprises of the State. He declared that a united State was the end to be sought and that he believed in a progressive right.

Under his administration he said that he expected to encourage every form of legitimate enterprise. The State will in the coming campaign be united against the common enemy and make a great fight, he doubted not. "And I assure you," said he, "that North Carolina will continue to have ten Democratic representatives in Congress."

Mr. Locke Craig followed the Governor-elect and spoke of his allegiance to the party which as a great organization he feels obligated to. He thanked his friends most heartily for their support and declared that this loyalty of his friends outweighed the loss of the emoluments of the office which he had sought and lost. He stated his determination to continue to fight for Democracy in the future as in the past.

"I believe that the men who constitute the convention compose the brains, moral strength and guidance of the whole State," said Mr. Craig.

The speaker received a big ovation as he stepped upon the platform and as he completed his address and stepped aside.

Mr. Craig promised his undiminished interest and labor for the commonwealth and pledged his continued support to the party and his readiness to answer her every demand upon him gladly and willingly. Above personal considerations rise the demands of the State and party and we need a great administration whose leader has declared his belief in the great saying by him who is to be Democracy's leader. 'Equal rights to all and special privileges to none.'"

Col. Horne Withdraws.

Mr. Ashley Horne withdrew from the gubernatorial race at 6:30 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Horne's action in taking this step was due largely to his position relative to the deadlock in which his friends have labored for days and nights. Being escorted in an unostentations manner to the platform by friends, Mr. Horne stood waiting for silence, his mere appearance on the platform precipitating an ovation in his honor, seldom witnessed in assemblages of men.

"Mr. Horne wishes to make a few remarks to the convention," declared Chairman Parsons, and while he undertook to gain a hearing for Mr. Horne, the latter stood with his hands folded behind his back with a serious, stern, half-sad look upon his face as he contemplated the step he was about to take. He said in withdrawing from the race.

"Ladies and Gentlemen: Another great battle has been fought and I trust without harm to the State or party. This occasion will long be remembered by us all. Had it not been for the faithfulness and devotion of these men, my friends; this thing could never have lasted so long. This action that I take means the defeat of the greatest ambition that I have ever cherished. I am proud that it was given to me to aspire to such an office—that of the leader of such a great State. These men who have stood by me have been loyal and true and I am sure I know how to return this loyalty to them. I have fought for my country and have been with the Clansmen when we had to fight for our women and children and the one inheritance I have to leave to my only son is my Democracy and to that I shall ever be true."

AT LUMINA TODAY.

Afternoon and Evening Concerts by Kneisel's Splendid Orchestra.

An unusually fine programme has been arranged for the Lumina concerts today. A special feature will be the trombone solo "The Rosary," that is to be played during the afternoon concert by Mr. Remick. Mr. Remick is an excellent performer on the trombone and his solos are always listened to with pleasure.

Dangerously Injured.

As the result of a fight between Walter Wallace and John Henry Friday night at corner of Fourth and Castle streets, Wallace was struck with a large stone by the latter, who landed him a lick on the head and he remained in a dangerous condition at the James Walker Memorial Hospital for several hours. The blow was with such force that Wallace fell unconscious to the ground, and had several convulsions before the ambulance arrived. He was somewhat improved last night. The officers have been unable to locate Henry who hurriedly made his escape.

Jewelry Stores to Close.

The leading jewelry firms in the city have fallen in line with many other stores in the city and have agreed to close each Friday afternoon beginning next Friday and continuing through September 4th. The firms who will close are George Honnet, Geo. W. Huggins, F. A. Bissinger, Victor E. Zoeller & Co., J. T. Burke and D. T. McCulloch.

CARRYING THE MAIL

State Association of Rural Free Delivery Carriers Meets This Week.

PROGRAMME ANNOUNCED

Fully Two Hundred Visitors Expected Addresses by Congressmen Godwin, Thomas and Other Distinguished Visitors.

A splendid programme with other preliminary arrangements have been completed for the annual convention of the North Carolina Rural Letter Carriers' Association, which convenes in this city next Thursday for a two days' session.

A representative delegation from all counties in the State will be present and it is expected that the visitors will number fully 200. The attendance at this convention will likely be a material increase over last year on account of the invitation extended to all carriers without regard to membership. This will be the fifth annual gathering and promises to be the most successful and interesting in the history of the organization. Under the chairmanship of Mr. R .F. Gore an excellent committee has the arrangement in charge for the coming event and the delegates are assured a most delightful time while in the city. They will have headquarters at The Orton and the sessions of the convention will be held in the United States court room in the postoffice building.

Congressman Godwin will address the carriers at the night session and on the following day the chief features will be the address of Congressman Charles R. Thomas and Postmaster W. G. Briggs, of Raleigh. The last session will be a business meeting Saturday evening at 2 o'clock for the purpose of electing officers and the selection of a meeting place for next year.

The opening session will be called to order Friday morning at 9 o'clock; Rev. Fred D. Hale, D. D., will conduct the devotional exercises and this will be followed by singing "America." The remainder of the session will be devoted to business matters, consisting of the appointment of several committees, reading roll of officers and delegates, reading minutes, report of committee on credentials and the seating of delegates. The welcome address will then be delivered by Mayor Springer and the response will be by Mr. S. H. Rogers, vice president of the Association. Talks relative to the organization, its purposes and achievements will be made by Messrs. A. J. Hunter, C. H. Bains and S. H. Rogers.

The second session will include an address by Postmaster T. E. Wallace and discussion of good roads and how to obtain them by B. L. Hester, T. C. Smith and others. The convention will adjourn late in the afternoon and the visitors will take a trolley ride to the beach.

ALLEGED ROBBER ARRESTED

Tom Covington Placed in Jail to Await Fayetteville Authorities.

Believed to be the negro wanted at Fayetteville for robbing the express office over a year tga. Tom Covington was arrested at his home corner of Eleventh and Castle streets Friday night by Constable Savage and placed in New Hanover jail to await the arrival of Chief of Police Monaghan, of Fayetteville.

Covington is said to be a notorious criminal and when he was arrested for the offense mentioned, the Wilmington officers were searching for him on the charge of assaulting his wife. Chief Monaghan was in Wilmington several months ago looking for Covington. However, he managed to evade the officers and the search for him at several other places proved fruitless. Covington is alleged to have stolen between five and six hundred dollars, a part of which was in checks and was afterwards recovered.

WILL MARRY TODAY.

Mr. J. E. Clayton and Miss Blanche Montgomery to Wed.

The many Wilmington friends of Mr. J. E. Clayton, a popular salesman for Mr. W. B. Cooper, of this city, will be interested in an event to take place this afternoon in Kingstree, S. C., when Mr. Clayton will lead to the altar Miss Blanche Montgomery, an attractive young lady of that city. Invitations announcing the approaching marriage were issued several weeks ago and the nuptials will be attended by a large concourse of friends in Kingstree.

Following the ceremony the couple will leave for Henderson, N. C., where they will spend ten days or more on a visit to relatives before coming to their home in this city. They will reside at 314 Red Cross street, where they will be pleased to greet their friends.

The Newbern tailenders made it two out of three with Wilmington in the series on the local grounds yesterday afternoon; score seven to five. The visitors outplayed the locals and in the sixth and seventh innings gained a lead of three runs each, which the Sailors were powerless to overcome. It is estimated that fully seventeen hundred and fifty people saw the game.

Both teams sent one across the rubber in the second inning, Newnern's score coming on an error of Smith at third, allowing C. Yerkes safe, after White was out from short; a pass to Ferguson, which was strongly protested by Bussey and a single to centre by Crowley; the side was retired on Smith's hit to third and double of Crowley at first. Wilmington's run was on a single by Smith down first base line, giving Rath safe on fielder's choice, stolen base by Rath and single to left by Jayes after Carneal had fanned.

There was nothing doing in the third and fourth innings, but in the fifth Wilmington thought she had cinched the game when Jayes was safe and got second on wild throw of short to first, was sacrificed by Bussey and Smith running for the clever little centre-fielder, made a clean steal home with Flynn at the bat. This was the feature of the game and called forth the loudest protests from the Newbernites. Flynn with one man down went out catcher to first. Hoey pasted out a nice single to left but was out attempting to steal second with Kite at the bat.

Newbern began the fireworks in the sixth inning, Cox first up, making a clean single down first base line and being sacrificed by Sharp. White came up and with a nice single scored Cox. C. Yerkes singled to left and stole second; Ferguson singled and White and C. Yerkes galloped home. Ferguson was caught by Kite at second, but Crowley was safe on an error of Hoey being caught a moment later at second. Four hits and one error netted the vistors three runs

At this juncture Kite was put out of the game by Umpire VanArman for kicking at a decision of being called out, second to first. Doak singled to centre and was safe at second on passed ball. Smith sacrificed and Doak was at third with Rath up but he could do nothing better than to go out short to first.

McDonnell was put behind the plate in place of Kite when Newbern came up for its half of the sixth and Bussey, who had pitched the twelve innings the afternoon before was relieved by Wysong. The change apparently did not end the fireworks, for Smith, first up, drove out a nice one to centre, was sacrificed by Clunn and S. Yerkes was safe on error of Smith at third. Cox came up and S. Yerkes stole second, allowing Smith to score; Cox was safe on an error of Rath and Sharp singled to right, scoring Yerkes and Cox. White sacrificed, but C. Yerkes was out on a fine stop by Carneal, two hits and two errors netting the visitors three runs.

Wilmington scored one in her half of the seventh inning but could do no more. Jayes hit to left field after Carneal had fanned and Captain Smith, running for him, got third on wild pitch; Wysong hit a nice one through second and Smith scored for Jayes. Smith again took the bases for Wysong, stole second on long slide but Flynn flew long to centre and Smith was doubled at second.

Another was added by the locals in both the eighth and ninth innings, but it was too late to overcome the odds. In the eighth Newbern was down in one, two, three order. Hoey first up for Wilmington smashed out a two bagger to left; McDonnell flew out on long sacrifice to right and Doak scored Hoey on a beautiful single to centre. Rath was out pitcher to first. It was again one, two, three for the Newberns in the ninth and Carneal first up for the locals hit to left for two bases; Webster batting for Wysong was up and Smith running for Carneal stole third and came home on

ANOTHER JURY OUT

Trial of Robert Bolton and Tom Wells Now in Hands of Twelve Men.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT

Grand Jury Completed Its Work Yesterday Morning and Made Report to Court Early in Afternoon—Next Week.

Another jury in the Superior Court is out all night with apparently no likelihood of agreement, the case being that of Tom Wells and Robert Bolton, negro roustabouts, charged with a criminal assault upon Laura Hill, colored, at Hilton Park, on a Saturday afternoon, about six weeks ago.

The case went to the jury yesterday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock with the charge of Judge Peebles, which was regarded as eminently fair to both sides. The witnesses examined were Israel Moore, colored, who accompanied the woman at the time of the alleged assault; Officers H. W. Howell, I. F. Huggins, E. L. Smith and others. The argument was begun by F. W. Bonitz, Esq., for the State, followed by Messrs. Jos. W. Little and L. Clayton Grant, Esqs., attorneys for the prisoners. The argument was closed by Solicitor Duffy, who made a strong appeal for a triumph of the law regardless of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. Mr. Duffy had completed his argument at 1:30 o'clock and court took a recess until 3:15 P. M., at which time Judge Peebles delivered his charge and the jury retired in charge of Officer John M. Branch, being still out at an early hour this morning. The jury is composed as follows: Messrs. H. O. Wallace, J. Fred Russ, M. M. Woody, W. E. Whilden, W. E. Mayo, E. C. Woodberry, R. T. Windley, Ed. Moore, A. H. Zoeller, D. R. Ruark, J. M. Croom and J. P. Gilbert. They are being made as comfortable as possible in the Court House.

Monday morning the young white men, Cook and Riggins, of Delgado, charged with complicity in the killing of Banks Rothwell, a colored man of Masonboro township, will be tried, a special venire of one hundred being already summoned from which to select the jury. It will be recalled that the young men went to arrest Rothwell on a warrant sworn out by L. M. Bryant, who accompanied them for the arrest and fled the county when a warrant was issued for his arrest in connection with the killing. Bryant has not been taken. Cook and Riggins will be represented by W. P. Gafford, Esq.

The only other entry on the court docket yesterday was Henry Waddell, alias Henry Craig, alias John Moore, charged with false pretence. He was called and failed and judgment was entered nisi, sci fa and capias.

Grand Jury's Report.

The grand jury completed its work yesterday morning and early in the afternoon, after making the following report, was discharged with the thanks of the court:

"To the Honorable Judge Robert B. Peebles, Superior Court County of New Hanover, State of North Carolina:

"The grand jury for the special June term of the Superior Court, County of New Hanover, State of North Carolina, beg to make the following report:

"That they have examined a total of 38 presentments, returning 31 true bills and seven not true bills. Two other cases reported to the grand jury were also thoroughly investigated but owing to insufficient evidence to sustain the charges made, no action could be taken.

"It is respectfully submitted that the business of this grand jury could have been transacted in three days if the various witnesses in the several cases investigated had been present at the time for which they were summoned, and for the benefit of future grand juries, it is recommended that the officers of the court use their best efforts with a view of improvement in securing the presence of witnesses more promptly.

"By direction of the court, no investigation was made of the various county public buildings, roads, etc.

"Just as the grand jury was about to adjourn, a committee from the coroner's jury which investigated the death of Mr. A. F. Trunnel appeared before this body and requested that we recommend that no street carnivals be allowed in future to exhibit in the limits of New Hanover county, on account of the results ensuing therefrom. We respectfully submit this matter to the court or to the succeeding grand jury for such action as seems necessary in the premises.

"Respectfully Submitted,
"K. W. PRICE, "W. J. CRAIG,
"Secretary. Foreman."

RIGHT KIND OF DEMOCRAT.

"It now appears highly probable that William Jennings Bryan, the able, eloquent, and honest statesman that he is will be nominated for the Presidency at the Denver convention. This paper has not been a Bryan supporter for the nomination. If he is nominated however as soon as he is then he is our man "from the word go." And we readily agree that the experienced and far-sighted leaders and counsellors who advocate his nomination may be entirely right; but this fact if it be a fact does not debar us from having an opinion nor deny us the right to express it. We have expressed our choice and opinion and that ends it."

The above is from the editorial columns of last week's Sampson Democrat. It is a good sign to see such sentiment expressed in the Democratic papers which are opposed to the nomination of Mr. Bryan or prefer some other man as the party's candidate. The Clinton editor is manly and independent in declaring his preference for some other candidate, which preference he had the right to hold and to express. And equally did he show his manliness and his sound Democracy in the declaration that he would be for Bryan "from the word go" from the time of the latter's nomination. That is the kind of Democrat we like to see. One who utters such sentiments is as true a Democrat as he who has advocated Bryan's nomination from the beginning of his candidacy.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE NOW.

Dr. Wiley, of Washington, the Government chemist and an authority on foods, has just given to the press a set of rules on dieting in hot weather. They are:

"Eat one-fourth less in summer than in winter.

"Eat meat in moderation. Select the lighter meats.

"Banish all alcoholic beverages.

"Eat most largely of cooked fruits and vegetables.

"Drink nothing below 60 degrees in temperature, and drink sparingly.

"Be careful to seek the society of cheerful friends.

"Practice moderation in open air exercise.

"Don't fret; don't worry."

Dr. Wiley opposes the eating of raw fruits. He says pathogenic germs are found on all of it and he warns people against getting them in their systems.

Until quite recent years people were taught to believe that fresh ripe fruit was the most wholesome of foods in hot weather, many kinds acting as a tonic ,and were much more conducive to health than heavier diet of sweets and meats.

After awhile people will be told that hog and hominy is the worst thing for their physical condition they can put in their stomachs.

PLATFORM MAKING.

What about the platform? Is its adoption to be put off until after all the candidates are nominated. A great many of the delegates have gone home and those who have remained so anxious for adjournment that they will favor any kind of resolutions rather than prolong the session by their discussion? The platform should have been taken up and passed on before a single ballot for a candidate was taken. Then this very important matter would have come before a full convention of men fresh and with their wits about them. Take up the platform at the tail-end of the convention and a dozen delegates of determined character can get through any declaration they desire. When a platform is so adopted many of the tired-out delegates who vote for it will not recognize it afterward when they see it in the newspapers. At times platforms are purposely rushed through in this way by designing politicians. Platform making in conventions hardly ever receives the attention from the full body that it should have.

A news and Observer special dispatch from Charlotte says the North Carolina delegation to the Denver Convention on Friday held a meeting and appointed a committee on arrangements for the trip to the convention city. We did not know the State delegates had been appointed at that time. Are the four delegates at large to have no voice in arranging the State delegation programme?

UNPLEASANT SITUATION.

The situation at Charlotte over the gubernatorial nomination last week was quite similar to that in the Norfolk Congressional District, of which the Virginian-Pilot says:

"It reminds us of the remark made by a dear New Orleans girl who was the belle of Saratoga one golden summer "before the war." Every eligible party at the springs was at her feet, among them the lions of the season, for whom a score of scheming matrons had bedecked their daughters' charms. One after another the pick of these preferred suit to the Southern beauty only to find her gently obdurate. Finally a near friend plead with her in favor of the scion of an old and opulent New York family. What does he lack, protested the matron, 'in character, looks or fortune that a woman should wish in a husband?' 'Nothing,' sighed Inez. 'He is all that you say, but how can I send off all the others?'"

As Mr. Taft is Mr. Roosevelt's candidate we suppose he will have the aid of the administration in working the political end of the Venezuelan affair for all it is worth from now until the election. Every time the departments at Washington assure the pepole that matters are proceeding satisfactorily a postscript is added in an off-hand manner mentioning the close proximity to Venezuela of certain United States warships.

It was tough on those members of the Charlotte convention who, because of the almost continuous session, had to eat at lunch counters and sleep on their chairs in the hall and at the same time pay their per diem at the big hotels. We say "sleep in their chairs in the hall," for, despite the continual din and uproar, some of the delegates were able to snatch forty winks now and then.

It would have been a good idea to have an adding machine manipulated by an expert on the rostrum during the taking of ballots for Governor. It would have greatly expedited the summing up of the votes. The delay was very great at times.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—We thought Taft and Foraker would play the hypocrite yet and get together on some kind of a deal out in Ohio. Taft wants to carry his State. Foraker wants to hang hold at that precious senate seat, the last pubic job that Joseph Brownsville Foraker is ever likely to hold. Before dog days strike the Ohio corn land and oil wells the Buckeye folks will see Bill and Joe pulling in double harness just as nice as any modern David and Jonathan.—Raleigh Times.

—As a matter of fact, Oxford is cleaner than most towns but the commissioners are to be commended for their encouragement to the Village Improvement Society when it submitted the proposition to thoroughly clean the town. The town force and the town machinery has been put at the disposal of the ladies, and the cleaning process will begin within a few days and continue until the streets glisten and shine. This is a good move and should be followed up by the town's forcing the citizens to keep things in good order hereafter, which the people are naturally, let us hope, inclined to do.—Oford Ledger.

—A careful reading of the injunction plank of the Republican platform, and comparison with existing laws will speedily convice the most skeptical that there was no honesty back of its insertion in the platform. Putting it there was a shameful exhibition of false pretenses, for it is not in any essential particulars different from existing laws. It is evident from what Mr. Bryan has already said that he will insist upon the Democrats making a much stronger declaration. The fear is that under his insistence demands will be made, which existing conditions do not justify.—Montgomery Advertised.

—The indications are that Mr. Bryan having assured himself of the Democratic nomination at Denver, will want to make his fight upon a Populist platform. He may be consistent with himself in assuming this attitude; but he cannot expect a favorable verdict at the hands of the voters. Greenbackery, free silver, the initiative and referendum, government ownership of railroads and other Socialistic fads and fancies are graveyard issues. They cannot be successfully resurrected. Behind the Republican party are the trusts. To batter down the trusts is the way to defeat the Taft and Sherman ticket.—Philadelphia Record.

—This unanimous respect paid to Grover Cleveland by a convention of Democrats who greatly differed with him in the matters that caused the division in the Democratic party in 1896, does not mean that those who honored the ex-President believe he was right and they were wrong. It does mean that they know how to respect the memory of a great man whether they were in agreement with him or not. Those in the convention who always followed Cleveland sorrowed in his death and feel that time has vindicated him. Those who disagreed with hi mare thankful that he lived long enough for the asperites of those times to be assuaged and for the old regard entertained for Mr. Cleveland in the early days to be re-established. He will have a high place in history among the great men called to be chief magistrate of this country.—News and Observer.

—Bills, bills, bills! They are pouring into the legislative hopper at Atlanta 'world without end." A few of them are needed, most of them are not, and some of them are—well, let's call it "funny." There's one, for instance, which provides that all hotels and boarding houses in Georgia shall put mosquito bars or nets over their beds in summer. Is the purpose of that bill to stimulate the demand for cotton? If so, it should be amended to include the Oklahoma law which provides that all hotels and boarding houses shall supply their beds with two sheets each ,the sheets to be not less than nine feet in length. There might be included, also, what has become known as the "shirt-tail bill," introduced in a certain Legislature last year, requiring the addition of an extra inch upon the tails of all shirts worn within the State And while the bill is being perfected, it might take cognizance of the fact that no lingerie is worn with those new sheath dresses, and prohibit the fashion to be adopted within the State of Georgia. A great deal of the lingerie is made of cotton, and if it should be abolished by an imported fashion manifestly the demand for cotton would be lessened.—Savannah News.

Messrs. Walter Sprunt, Raymond Humphreys and Will Moore returned on Tuesday last from a very delightful and interesting automobile trip to Clinton. The party left Wilmington on Monday morning, and though parts of the road were good, they encountered some water and some very deep sand. The machine used was that owned by Mr. Sprunt, and is a 40-horse power Maxwell touring car. Several times Wilmingtonians have attempted auto tours, and while the roads around this part of the country are not very good for touring purposes, they have in every instance managed to enjoy the trip. It is to be hoped, however, that it will not be very long before North Carolina improves her roads, so that these trips may be made more frequently.

On Wednesday evening of last week Miss Janie Meares was the hostess of a most delightful entertainment, which was given complimentary to Miss Annie Dodge Glenn, of Raleigh, niece of Governor R. B. Glenn. Many games were played, but the feature of the evening was writing "poetry," prizes being awarded to the ones who were supposed to show the most genius in this line. The ladies' first prize was won by Miss Annie Dodge Glenn, and was McCutcheon's latest book, "The Husband of Edith," and the gentlemen's first prize was a pack of cards, which was won by Mr. Robert Cronly. The booby prizes, which were awarded to Miss Marie Grainger and Mr. Merrill Blair, were Teddy Bears. Those who were present were Misses Ruth Bridgers, Mary Owen Green, Helen Williams, Annie Dodge Glenn, Meta Rountree, Marie Grainger, May Carmichael, Charlotte O'Neill, Elizabeth Pemberton, Margaret Jennings, Rosalie Murchison, Nora

How Prisoners Read.

"It is rather pathetic," said a prison chaplain, "the way our inmates read their surreptitious newspapers. It is bad for the poor fellows' eyes too.

"It is against the rule for them to read in their cells, and in the cell doors there are peepholes, to which the jailers come noiselessly, seeing that all the rules are enforced.

"The prisoner who simply must read pastes with a bit of porridge his journal up against his cell door beneath the peephole. He sits down on the floor a yard or two away and holds his dustpan in one hand and his brush in the other. In this awkward and wearisome position, his eyes nearly popping out of his head from strain, he reads away for dear life.

"And when the jailer's cold, hard eye peers in through the peephole it misses the paper and lights up with some faint approbation at the sight of the prisoner polishing up his floor."—New York Press.

The One Man.

A man who was summoned for beating his wife tried hard to put all the blame upon his mother-in-law and was chided by the bench for his lack of gallantry.

"Why should it always be the fashion for a man to malign his mother-in-law?" the magistrate remarked. "Is chivalry quite dead among us? I knew a man once who never spoke an unkind word to his mother-in-law, never blamed her in the least for his quarrels with his wife and never had the bad taste to complain about her to other people."

The wife beater stared open mouthed as he listened to the recital of the domestic paragon's virtues. Then he said: "Oh, yes, I've heard of that fellow before. His name was Adam!"—London Globe.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

BENEFITED

Miss Clutter's Hair

HERPICIDE

MISS MADELINE CLUTTER

Read her letter about it:

"I herewith enclose you one of my latest photographs, which will show you what Newbro's Herpicide has done for my hair. Since using your remedy my hair is much longer than it was, and it has the lustre to it that one's hair always has when the scalp is in a healthy condition."

(Signed) MISS MADELINE CLUTTER.
3953 Michigan Avenue,
Flat 210. Chicago, Illinois.

The immense popularity of Newbro's Herpicide, particularly among the better class, is due to the fact that it never disappoints. It does all and more than is claimed for it.

Its delightful fragrance, perfect clearness and freedom from grease or oil, appeal to the discriminating, and its cleansing, refreshing and health-giving effect upon the scalp is immediately apparent.

Herpicide makes the hair light and fluffy and gives it a silken gloss.

Extraordinarily long hair is a gift of Nature that relatively few possess, but not many would complain if they could save Nature's head covering in its original beauty and luxuriance

The dandruff germ is the greatest enemy of abundant hair. This is on account of the highly contagious nature of dandruff, which makes it almost impossible to escape the disease without the occasional use of a germ destroying solution.

Newbro's Herpicide is the ORIGINAL remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." It promptly eradicates dandruff, stops falling hair and, (except in chronic baldness) restores the hair to its former health and activity. Herpicide stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

OLD TIME THEATERS.

The Way House and Stage Were Lighted In Garrick's Time.

It must have often struck people when reading of the performances in the eighteenth century how it was that the lightning was contrived. The power of oil lamps was limited enough. Theaters like Drury Lane and Covent Garden were of enormous size. There were no footlights, at least until about the middle of the eighteenth century, and they were the humble "floats," dim enough. Yet there was ample light to observe expression and play of features, so necessary in interpreting the fine old comedies of character. Nowadays the stage is one blaze. It is literally bathed and suffused in light. There are no shadows, and yet it might be said the amount of necessary light is no more than there used to be and is not nearly as satisfactory. How was it then?

In the theaters of Garrick and earlier days the stage was really lit by four great chandeliers, which hung directly over the heads of the actors from the arch of the proscenium and just outside the curtain. When the play was over, these were lowered slowly, a signal for the audience to depart. These chandeliers furnished a goodly amount of light on a circular zone immediately below them. The actors' faces and figures were lit in the natural way, as the sun would light them, but the rest of the stage was comparatively dark or gloomy.—Blackwood's.

"E Pluribus Unum."

We are indebted to John Adams for our national motto, "E Pluribus Unum." While he was minister to England Sir John Prestwick suggested it to Mr. Adams as a good motto to indicate the union of the colonies. It was submitted to congress and adopted by act of congress June, 1782. The eagle in its beak bears a ribbon on which is the motto. In the early days of its use the eagle bore also in its talons a bundle of thirteen arrows, but when, in 1841, a new seal was made to take the place of the old one, which had become worn, only six arrows were placed in the talons. Whether this change was ordered by law or not is not known. The old Latin motto was in use in England as far back as 1730 on the Gentleman's Magazine.

The Main Thing.

"She has the face of a seraph!" declared the enthusiastic friend.

"That's all right," said the practical manager, "but has she the backing of an angel?"—Baltimore American.

"Will you saw some wood for your dinner?"

"No'm, I don't eat wood."—Houston Post.

The young people of this city are looking forward with much pleasure to the Souvenir Dance which is to take place at Gay Lumina on Monday evening. These dances have been more popular this Summer than ever before, and the excellent music and the splendid floor at Lumina, tempt large crowds to the Beach every night. The Tidewater Power Company has given several of these Souvenir Dances this season, all of which have been well patronized and much enjoyed by the young people of Wilmington, as well as those on the Beach and have added greatly to the gaiety of the social life of this city and the beach.

The following from the Army and Navy Register will be read with much interest by friends in this city: "A very charming and attractive tea was given on board the Revenue Cutter Itasca at Norfolk, on June 10th by Captain Reinburg, commander of the vessel, and Mrs. Reinburg. Among the guests who enjoyed their hospitality were Mrs. Chas. P. Shaw, Mrs. Walter J. Adams, Mrs. Gwynn T. Shepherd, Mrs. Burruss Corprew, Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Wertenbaker, Mrs B. F. Mitchell, Miss Madge Balthis, Misses Harriet and Eloise Hunter, Miss Margaret Cobb, Misses Bessie and Susie Howard, Miss Nannie Reed, Miss Louise Robinson, Miss Mary Hough, Miss Lilla Howard, the Messrs. Littleton, of Atlanta; Lieut. and Mrs. Maccoun, Miss Rosa Perkins, and the officers and cadets of the ship."

—Sampson Democrat: Persons with things entirely new in communities where they travel have some rich experiences, particularly those with automobiles. A party of gentlemen were coming up to Clinton from Wilmington on June 22, when they came upon a man plowing by the roadside. Fearing that the horse would be frightened they blew a signal; the man looked up and saw this wonderful sight to him of a queer looking thing gliding along without being pulled or pushed, which was more than he could stand, so he reached up and snatched off "old Betsy," and, leaving his horse to take care of himself, did some tall running. The horse, however, seeing that there was no harm in it, stood perfectly still. This was across the line over in Duplin.—A friend over in Turkey tells of a right amusing occurrence when some gentlemen from Wilmington passed through that section recently enroute to Clinton on their magnificent automobile. A colored man by the name of Alex Faison, with his mule and plow going to the field met the thing right in the road. The occupants of the machine did all they could to pacify Alex and his mule, but failed utterly, for neither he nor his mule had ever seen such a thing before, consequently both became very much excited. The mule broke to run first, and Alex, in quick pursuit followed. It was hard to tell which ran the faster, Alex or the mule, and both were hard to find. The plow and gear were all demolished. Of course Alex had an excuse—that he was after the mule, but he was scared just the same. There is much more to the story. If you want to laugh ask Alex about it.

He Got What He Needed.

"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says Mr. C. Farthing of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. 50c.

NEWS OF LUMBERTON

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, June 27.—While a thunder storm was passing over here on Thursday considerable damage was done by lightning. The electric lights were put out of business in several places, but we have heard of no trouble with the telephones. About a mile from town a colored man was so badly shocked that he was blind for several hours. A mule belonging to Mr. Council Pitman, residing at Bellamy, seven miles below here, was struck and killed.

Conductor Stoll Meggs, ,who has been with the Raleigh & Charleston Railroad for two or three years, has been appointed to a position in the Railway Postal service, with instructions to report in Charleston for duty. He will probably be succeeded by Mr. Alf H. McLeod.

After spending several days here visiting friends, Mrs. A. V. Laffiteau returned to Wilmington Wednesday—Mr. J. L. Stephens is erecting a residence on North Main street, on a lot between Messrs. W. O. Thompson and W. P. Barker. Mr. Julian Pope is also building on the northeast cornet of the lot on which his parents reside.

A small vacant house over in Brooklyn, belonging to Mr. S. T. Freeman, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning about 3 o'clock. Origin unknown.

From Monday evening to Wednesday morning about sixty people boarded the trains here for Charlotte. 45 of the number left Tuesday morning.

Mr. Farrell, who has the contract for putting in the sewerage and water extension, states that he expects to finish up the work in four or five weeks.

Lumberton needs an ordinance and have it rigidly enforced against tobacco juice on the sidewalks, especially where the streets are paved.

Commencing July 1st, the Lumberton electric light plant will begin running at 1 P. M. in order that power may be furnished to operate the electric fans which many people are having installed.

Quite a number of farmers in this section took advantage of the rise in the price of cotton and sold that which they had been holding for "higher prices."

Mr. K. M. Biggs has purchased a lot 30x120 feet, it being a part of the vacant lot on Main street, south of the Waverly Hotel, the price paid being $2,000. Mr. Biggs has not decided just when he will build, but probably the first of next year.

We understand that Messrs. White & Gough expect in a few days to begin work of enlarging their store building so as to have more room for their steadily increasing business.

During a thunder storm which passed over town Monday afternoon a tree was struck in front of the residence of Mr. A. R. Aydlotte and Mr. S. A. Eure, who was passing within about 20 feet of the tree, was sufficiently shocked to need the service of a physician, but soon came around allright.

Another improvement of the Seaboard passenger station is the removal of a piece of side track from between the main line and the track of the Raleigh & Charleston, which had to be crossed in order to pass to and from the latter road.

Rev. and Mrs. S. Weiss and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Freeman expect to leave the first of next week for Golden Institute in Rutherford county to attend the annual meeting of the Christian Missionary Alliance. Mr. Weiss will return the last of the week to fill his pulpit at the Gospel Tabernacle Sunday, but the other members of the party will remain a few days longer.

Mayor Rowland says he is determined to break up jumping on and off trains while at the station here. One offender was fined this week and required to spend the night in the guard house. Bicycle riders who ride at night without lights are also to be looked after.

ORDER ISSUED BY MRS. EDDY.

Communion Season is Abolished, Mother Church Not Large Enough.

(Boston Sunday Globe.)

The general communion service of the Christian Science denomination, held annually in the First church of Christ, Scientist, in this city has been abolished by order of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy. The services attended last Sunday by 10,000 persons were thus the last to be held.

Of late years members of the church outside of Boston have not been encouraged to attend the communion seasons except on the triennial gatherings, the next of which would have been held next year.

The announcement in regard to the services was made last night by Alfred Farlow of the publication committee as follows:

"First church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston has taken steps to abolish its famous communion seasons. In former years, the annual communion season of the Boston church has offered an occasion for the gathering of vast multitudes of Christian Scientists from all parts of the world. According to the following statement, which Mrs. Eddy has just given out to the press, these gatherings will be discontinued:

"'The house of the Mother church seats only 5,000 people, and its membership includes 48,000 communicants, hence the following:

"'The branch churches continue their communion seasons, but there shall be no more communion season in the Mother church that has blossomed into spiritual beauty, communion universal and divine. "For who hath known the mind of the Lord that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ. I Cor., 2:16.'"

REHDER'S MILL-END SALE.

Tenth Annual Event at Big Store on North Fourth Street.

There is decidedly "something doing" at the big department store of J. H. Rehder & Co., on North Fourth street, this week. Yesterday inaugurated the firm's big tenth annual Mill-End Sale, which will last ten days and which will be featured by an era of bargains scarce paralleled in the history of the retail trade in Wilmington. Mr. Rehder has just returned from the North where he went in search of bargains for this big event and case after case of seasonable merchandise, which arrived by Clyde steamship during the past week, testify to what is being thrown on the shelves and counters for immediate disposal.

The Mill-End Sale will embrace stylish millinery at never-stay prices, sensational prices on wash silks, big reductions in mattings and rugs; —shoes and clothing for Summer wear, straw hats, shirt waists, men's furnishings, table linens; in fact every line carried in this big establishment. Yesterday the store was filled with eager, earnest, discriminating buyers and extra salespeople had to be called in to wait on the people. Monday will be the big day of this week. The sale lasts but ten days. The advice is, come early and get the pick.

Polvogt's Inventory Sale July 1st.

The ladies of our city are looking forward with much interest to the Inventory Sale of the Polvogt Co, Every July for the past ten years the Polvogt Co. have held a sale to reduce their stock before inventory time. This year they propose to have the greatest sale ever held by any dry goods firm in our city, even out doing their former efforts. Our readers attention is called to their full page advertisement in this issue. Besides the greatly reduced prices made on every item in their establishment. they will give away free double trading stamps with any sale. Extra salespeople have been employed and evtra wagons will be run to deliver the goods promptly. One of the Polvogt Co. features is the special one hour sale every day from 10 to 11 o'clock. These sales are very popular and The Polvogt Co. are the originators of these hour sales. Our readers are requested to remember that this sale starts Wednesday morning, July 1st, at 9 o'clock and runs to July 10th inclusive, with the exception of July 4th when the store will be closed one day. **

A Twenty-year Sentence.

"I have just completed a twenty-year health sentence, imposed by Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which cured me of bleeding piles just twenty years ago," writes O. S. Woolever, of LeRaysville, N. Y. Bucklen's Arnica Salve heals the worst sores, boils, burns, wounds and cuts in the shortest time. 25c at R. R. Bellamy's drug store.

—Rev. George S. Bearden is spending his vacation at Columbia, S. C., and there will be no services at St. Matthew's English Lutheran Church today as is erroneously announced in the announcement of Sunnday services elsewhere in today's paper.

—William Murphy, colored, after several years' illness, died at the James Walker Memorial Hospital last week and the funeral was conducted from St. Luke's church yesterday. He was well known and died at an advanced age.

—The Star must again remind Wilmington pastors that church notices will be cheerfully published if they are written out and sent to the office during the afternoon of the day before they are expected to be printed. We cannot undertake to handle them late Saturday nights nor to receive them by telephone as the office force is taxed to its capacity, especially on Saturday nights.

—The schooner Lejok arrived up late yesterday afternoon in tow of the tug Sea King with cargo of coal from New York for the Springer Coal Co. The tug Defiance arrived from Baltimore and will tow the barge Pocomoke to New York. The steamer Aragon, with barge in tow, Georgetown bound North, was reported anchored off Cape Fear bar yesterday afternoon on account of strong northeast winds.

THE NEW AT RALEIGH

First Regiment to Go in Camp—Foundling Cared For.

(Special Star Correspondence).

Raleigh, N. C., June 27.—The official announcement comes from Adjutant General T. R. Robertson, of the North Carolina National Guard, that the Frst Regiment of Infantry will go into camp at Camp Glenn, Morehead, July 20th for about one week. The details of the movement to Morehead along with the determination as to the actual duration of the encampment will be worked out and announced later. The encampment of the other two regiments will follow on dates yet to be fixed.

A new-born male child was found in the back lot of the residence of Mr. John Simpson, on West Jones street, last evening just after the heavy rains It was in a satchel and had received no attention. It was carried to Rex Hospital and is reported to be in good condition, weighing eleven pounds. Those interested in the welfare of the child have agreed that it shall be named for whatever candidate for Governor is named by the Democratic Convention at Charlotte. The identity of the mother has not been fixed. In christening the little fellow for the gubernatorial nominee the pleasing theory is suggested that he came along out of the clouds with the rain.

NOTICE CONTRACTORS.

Satisfactory arrangements have been made with Miss Mary Bridgers, by which she is released from the contract I now hold for the erection of her house on 17th and Market street. New bids are solicited.

TAILENDERS GET TWO

In the fourth inning Newbern missed a fine opportunity to score when Sharp hit to right for two bases first up and was sacrificed by White. C. Yerkes fanned and Ferguson flew to left with Sharp on the last bag. In the same inning Crowley in centre field cut off a nice two base hit for Doak and Captain Smith got a double by sliding for it. Rath sacrificed and Carneal did his very best with a long fly to right. Both teams played hard ball, but it was rather slow and the four errors for Wilmington on the field rather took the edge off the enthusiasm of the local rooters.

A Crush at the Gate.

The wildest scenes were witnessed at the gates of the enclosure as the crowd made a rush for the cars after the game. Quite indiscreetly the Tidewater Power Company's management had long, narrow "stalls" built to the entrances, which were quite narrow, and the crush there was appalling for a time. Ladies fainted and several gentlemen were injured slightly in a vain endeavor to keep the crowds back, there being a decline towards the car tracks. The management of the street railway company realizes fully that a great mistake was made and before the games the last of this week promises to have a more satisfactory arrangements for handling the crowds. The arrangement yesterday afternoon was fierce; yea, almost criminal. Another criticism yesterday was that passengers bound to the ball park could not purchase return tickets singly, the conductors having instructions not to sell less than a block of six for a quarter. A remedy of this trouble is also promised before the next games. The arrangement yesterday afternoon perhaps provoked more adverse criticism than anything that has occurred in Wilmington in a long time.

Easy Snap For Champions.

Kinston, N. C., June 27.—Kinston proved an easy snap today for the top-notchers. Brooks was pounded unmercifully while Mayberry was a puzzle to the home team. They will be stronger next week. The score:

Kinston	100 000 101	3	5	1
Wilson	101 060 011	10	14	5

Summary—Two base hits, Fox, Mills; bases on balls, by Brooks 1, by Mayberry 2; struck out, by Brooks 4, Mayberry 7. Umpire, Henderson. Time, 2 hours. Attendance 400.

Game at Raleigh.

Raleigh, N. C., June 27.—Raleigh defeated Goldsboro 8 to 6. There was nothing to remind one of the stormy conditions yesterday that forfeited that game to Raleigh. The batting of Bennett for Goldsboro, four times up with four hits, and Hill at short stop for Raleigh, were features. Score:

Raleigh	000 160 010	8	7	1
Goldsboro	002 010 210	6	10	3

VIRGINIA PASSENGER CO.

Report of the Special Master—State Soon to Take Place.

(By Wire to the Morning Star)

Richmond, Va., June 27.—Judge A. L. Holladay, special master of the United States Court in the receivership proceedings of the Virginia Passenger & Power Company, controlled by the Goulds, submitted his report today. The report is complete as to all matters involved, except a few small supply and equitable liens and other similar claims, and it is thought that these, as well as all others, will be wound up early in July.

It is believed that a sale of the property will be ordered shortly after the expiration of the 30 days provided by law for filing exceptions to the report of the special master and that the Goulds, who own a controlling interest in the consolidated companies, will be purchasers.

Not a great many exceptions are anticipated, as the attorneys for the various interests have often appeared before Special Master Holladay and stated their positions with reference to certain questions involved.

DIED.

SMITH—James H. Smith, son of John C. Smith, well known in Wilmington, departed this life Saturday, June 27th, 1908, at 2:15 o'clock. Funeral will take place at 4 o'clock from St. Stephen's A. M. E. Church. All are welcome.

THE C. W. POLVOGT COMPANY.

Annual Inventory Sale at This Select Establishment July 1st.

Attention need hardly be called to the large and attractive advertisement of the C. W. Polvogt Company, which appears on another page of the Star today. It is announced that the annual inventory sale at this popular dry goods establishment will begin on Wednesday, July 1st, and will continue through the tenth. This is and event of great interest and importance to the ladies of Wilmington, who expect always a little something extra in these annual merchandising events at their favorite store. Prices have been cut to reduce stock and the bargains offered will be par excellence. Extra salespeople have been employed to wait on the crowds that are expected during this sale and extra wagons will be put in commission to deliver the goods. Double Southern Trading Stamps will be given during the ten days and this alone will be found quite appealing to those who are completing books. The advertisement quotes only a few of the many really, low prices that will reign during this period, but it is well worth the reading by the discriminating buyer.

IN THE CITY LEAGUE.

Teams Are Playing Fast Ball Out Hilton Way—Scores Yesterday.

Professional ball at the new League Park has not abated the interest in the City League series out Hilton way. The largest crowds of the season were out yesterday afternoon to witness two exceptionally fast games, the nine innings in each being played in 62 and 65 minutes, respectively.

The Monarchs defeated the Rattlers in a score of two to one, Green for the former yielding not a single hit, the one run being made on an error in the eighth inning. Moore caught him and Quinney and Zellers were at the firing and receiving ends for the Rattlers. Emerson and Ridgley for the Monarchs cut off several hits in phenomenal fielding.

The second game was won by the Giants over the Y. M. C. A. five to two. Duls and King formed the battery for the Association and Schulken and Carr for the Giants.

NEW LAW PARTNERSHIP.

Messrs. A. H. Pait and Thos. K. Woody Compose Legal Firm.

Messrs. A. H. Pait and Thos. K. Woody, clever young Wilmingtonians who have been practicing at the Wilmington bar for the past year, have formed a co-partnership under the firm name of Pait & Woody and will have offices in the Bunting building on Princess street, second floor. Both are Wake Forest men, stood high before the Supreme Court and since they have been practicing here, have demonstrated their ability. The new firm of lawyers should do exceedingly well. They will do a general practice in Wilmington and adjoining counties, one of the firm being in the office at all times.

Services at Grace M. E. Church.

The services at Grace Methodist Church this morning will be conducted by Secretary Kettle, assisted by Dr. Akerman, president of the Y. M. C. A. In addition to the usual congregation, the public generally is invited to be present at these services, which will be conducted along interesting lines. Especially is it desired that the young men of the city come out and hear the vital topics that will be discussed. A choice musical programme will be rendered for the occasion. In the absence of the pastor, Rev. T. A. Smoot, who is attending the Epworth League Conference at Smithfield, there will be no preaching at night.

TWO NEGROES LYNCHED.

Meet Their Death at Hands of Mob For the Usual Crime.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Waycross, Ga., June 27.—Two negroes were lynched near this city late today by a mob of at least 1,000 persons. The negroes were Walter Wilkins and Albert Baker, who were brought here this morning from Wayne county, one of them changed with assaulting the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. Wiley Wainwright Thursday evening. The negroes were lodged in the Ware county jail during the day and late tonight were taken out by Wayne county officers for the purpose of carrying them to Jesup for safe-keeping. The mob suddenly made a rush for the officers and took their prisoners from them. The negroes were taken nearly half a mile to the first oak tree in old Cherokee nursery.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Wahsington, D. C., June 26.—Alexander S. Register appointed regular, Willie L. Nye sub. rural carrier route No. 1 at Clarkton. Irving T. Cox appointed postmaster at Ulah, Randalph county, vice M. R. Moffitt, resigned.

—Fayetteville Observer: The Rt. Rev. Robert Strange, D. D., Bishop of East Carolina is expected tomorrow morning. The especial object of his coming is to ordain to the Diaconate at St. John's church Sunday morning, Mr. B. F. Huske, son of Mr. A. S. Huske, of this city.

—Fayetteville Observer: Messrs. A. B. McMillan, and J. C. Gorham, who attended the Bankers' Association at Morehead City, made the trip in company with Mr. J. K. Pemberton from Wrightsville, and returned in a 30-foot naptha launch. They report a fine voyage and recommend it to sight-seers.

—Washington Messenger: J. R. Starling, who has been under bond for alleged robbery of the U. S. Mails, was given a hearing yesterday afternoon before U. S. Commissioner Russ. He was bound over and renewed bond for his appearance at the October term of the United States Circuit Court.

—News and Observer: Mr. B. Hobgood, of Garner, was in Raleigh yesterday under the care of physicians because of the scratch of a dog afterwards seized with rabies. The dog had been sick for several days and as Mr. Hobgood was playing with it the animal pawed and scratched him across his left hand. The physicians advise him that he is in no danger.

—Watauga Democrat: The oil well, or prospecting oil well at Mast, has now attained a depth of nearly 400 feet, and the earth formations are most pleasing to those interested, and their hopes of a rich reward for their labors are running high. More than one-third of the distance has been made through solid stone, and the drill is now working its way through strata of sand, bearing every indication of oil further down.

—Scottish Chief: Mrs. Lula Sanderlin, wife of Mr. B. J. Sanderlin, of Councils, died suddenly at Singletary Lake in Bladen county, where she had been spending a few weeks for the benefit of her health. The immediate cause of death was paralysis, resulting from Bright's disease. Deceased leaves a husband and four children, a father and several brothers and sisters. She was a daughter of Mr. Malcom L. McRae, of Maxton, and the late Nancy Jane McRae, and was in her 41st year of age.

—Greensboro, June 26.—At her home on North Elm street yesterday, morning, Mrs. Annie Eliza Lash, died of typhoid fever. The funeral was held from the late residence this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, the services being conducted by Rev. Sanders R. Guignard, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church of which the deceased was a devoted member. Mrs. Lash was the daughter of the late James Murphy, of Salisbury, and was born in that place about 50 years ago. Besides her husband, Dr. W. A. Lash, she is survived by two brothers and a sister.

—News and Observer: Just after the storm on Thursday evening a boy infant, white and lately born, was found in the back yard at the home of Prof. John Simpson. The infant was in a satchel and the indications are that it had been put in the yard before the rain, the little one having been exposed to the water. The finding of the child was reported to the police and he was taken to Rex Hospital. The infant, despite the exposure, is getting along well and will live. It is stated that there is no clue as to the mother of the child, or as to the party who placed the infant in the yard.

—Wilson, June 26.—Wednesday night Mr. Jack Bissett, father of Mr. C. F. Bissett, ex-county commissioner of Wilson county, died at his home in Nash county at the advanced age of 80 years. Mr. Bissett was a prominent Mason and a representative citizen of his county. For giving out information in regard to weights of newspapers—which the Third Assistant Postmaster says is strictly against the rules of the Department—Postmaster T. B. Person and his chief clerk, Mr. John Griffin, have gotten themselves in hot water. The Department will investigate the matter and then Wilson will again be in the limelight.—This afternoon the bells in all of Wilson's churches tolled out of respect to the memory of ex-President Grover Cleveland.

—Statesville, June 26.—Night prowlers and burglars are working here. Two or three burglars were at the home of Mr. T. H. Rodman after midnight Wednesday night and Mr. Rodman was not awakened until they had succeeded in opening both blinds of a window of his bed room. Mr. Rodman got up and closed the blinds very gently as though he thought they had been opened on purpose. A little later he heard parties talking on the outside and in another minute attempt was made to open the blinds. Mr. Rodman was out of his bed with his pistol in an instant, but not in time to see the burglars, who slipped around the house. He fired his pistol in the direction of the burglars and there was a general rush by the latter to get off the premises. Other persons in the neighborhood who were awakened by the pistol shots heard the burglars as they ran. A majority of Statesville people are sleeping with weapons near at hand, and sooner or later somebody will be fortunate like the Salisbury editor and a negro will die.

CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS DURING THE PAST YEAR

Annual Report of City Superintendent For Scholastic Year Closed in May—Suggestions and Observations as to Work in Wilmington—Interesting Statistics—Other Notes.

The Star has been requested to publish the following report of City School Superintendent John J. Blair, to the School Committee of Districts Nos. 1 and 2 of the city:

Members of the School Committee, District No. 1 and No. 2, Wilmington, N. C.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor of submitting to you my eighth annual report of the condition and progress of the schools under your charge, the same being the 22nd. of the special series since their establishment.

For more than twenty years this present school system has had its existence, and I am convinced that Wilmington has had within her borders, no influence more persistently and broadly beneficial than that of her Public Schools.

It will be the purpose of this report to give you some information and facts with regard to the condition, progress and improvement of the school; the efficiency and standing of your teachers and to place before you a summary of the work in the different departments, the attendance, discipline and such topics of an educational nature as belong to the year's work.

By a united effort on the part of nearly all our teachers and by the aid and co-operation of the patrons of the school, we are enabled to make a most favorable report in the matter of attendance, punctuality and progress.

Our average daily attendance is better this year than it has been before in the history of the school.

We find that most pupils who disappear from the schools do so because of their inability to do the work, which may result from indolence, irregular attendance, or improper grading upon his entrance to the school.

The crowded condition of some of our school rooms and a consequent necessary lack of individual attention on the part of teachers may result in the discouragement, a lack of interest, indifference, and finally the disappearance of the pupil's name from the school roll.

However, the percentage of those enrolled as compared with the number of pupils of school age in the city, is about the same as those of other places.

A statement of the enrollment and attendance for the past year, as compared with that of former years, is most suggestive.

General Progress—The written reports made by all the teachers and handed in to their respective principals were comprehensive and satisfactory. Distinct advance along all lines of work is shown.

The exhibition of school work the closing week of school was most interesting and instructive. On the walls of the school room were placed examples of the regular work of the grade, as done throughout the year.

The exhibition included copy books, spelling tablets, maps of all the different continents, composition work, problems in arithmetic, private and business letters, and drawing, both in pencil and water color.

These schools were visited by hundreds of parents and friends who expressed themselves as delighted with the evidences of the attractive and successful methods of teaching in vogue.

The closing exercises of the different schools were arranged in such a way, as to draw attention to the special phases of school work which have been emphasized during the year.

The competition for prizes in recitation and oratory was keenly contested in all the different schools, and greatly enjoyed by those who were fortunate enough to witness the contest.

Attention is called to the subjects named below on which essays were written by the pupils themselves, under the direction of the teachers. The entire community will receive lasting benefit from the preparation and rendering of such a program. Some of the subjects are as follows:

"Education of the Natural Faculties," "Manhood." "The Citizen and Community," "Development of Wilmington," "Public Spirited Things by Public Spirited Wilmingtonians," "Love of Knowledge," "Love of the Beautiful," "Recent Great Reforms," and "The Citizen and the Nation."

The instruction given in connection with History and Civil Government is not only merely reference to political life, but also as regards the pupils' social obligations to the city, school and home.

That there is a closer harmony between school and community is shown by the fact that the schools have been visited by more than twice as many parents and friends than ever before during a single year.

The Course of Study—The course of study as now prescribed by the committees bears evidence of being the result of a careful study of the needs of the children of the city, and the conditions which surround them.

The work laid out for each year is so closely related with that which precedes and follows that the child's progress from the bottom to the top is along a gradual continuous incline and not a series of steps and jumps of irregular proportions and uncertain dimensions.

At the suggestion of the committee the work in the department of English during the past year has been emphasized and extended with gratifying results. Attention having been called to it from many newspaper an dmagizne articles to the effect that applications for the admission to colleges and universities are found to be sadly deficient in their knowledge and use of the English language.

The blame of this condition of things was laid at the doors of the Preparatory schools and investigation showed that much of the work done here was superficial and unmethodical.

Some of the teachers who were particularly interested in bringing about an improvement in the condition of things carefully worked out in detail a course of study in English and Composition for the entire Grammar School Course.

The plan was found to be admirably adapted to the needs of the school and put in successful operation by the teachers of the different grades.

The composition work now done by our pupils, the facility and ease of expression, the use of new words, and a gradual tendency towards improvement in the matter of using good and correct language, together with better knowledge of technical grammar in the higher grades, all have evidence that united efforts on the parts of all of our teachers has been most effective.

As only a small per cent of the children go through the High School and fewer still go to college, so practically all the schooling the great majority of them get is obtained in the Primary and Grammar schools. The committee has considered the problem and with wisdom and common sense has adopted the policy of requiring that through honest and persistent drill to ground the pupils in elementary subjects, the constant use of which are required in the common affairs and business of everyday life.

Elocution and Reading—Probably there is no city in the South that can show such good reading as can be found in some of the schools of Wilmington. Especially is this true of the lower grades in which some of the classes have read thoroughly and with expression, as many as five different readers. The ease and pleasure with which this is done can only be attributed to the wonderful skill of some of our teachers.

The special training which has been given during the term in Elocution has had good effect upon the articulation and proper expression in reading.

The work in Arithmetic proceeds through the entire course from the first class in the Primary School, to the Senior class of the High School. Wilmington has long had the reputation for the successful work done in this department and the movement towards the better teaching of the science has been growing steadily.

Writing—During the past year pupils who have been in school two full years were required to write with the pen and the result seemed to have justified the wisdom of the plan. The pupils of both grades write well.

Spelling and Mental Arithmetic form a part of the daily work for all the grades.

History and Geography, two closely related subjects, have been most successfully taught by most of the teachers. The adoption of text books in North Carolina History in the 6th, 7th and 8th grades, has had the effect of arousing renewed interest in the wonderful history of our own State.

While there is no regular prescribed course in Eethics, nearly every teacher finds daily opportunity to give forcible instruction in Punctuality, Obedience, Truthfulness, Behavior in Church and Public Halls, conduct on the street, attitude toward older persons, etc.

Teachers' Meetings—The teachers' meetings which have been held during the year have been most profitable and inspiring. The teachers have taken an active part in discussing the varied and complex questions which were presented, such as follows:

"The Teacher's Mission," "Medical Supervision of Public Schools," "Improvement of the Course of Study," "Detailed Plans For Lessons," "Time Saving in Teaching," "Effects of Environment," "Moral Training and Habits," "Civic Improvements," "Beautifying of School Grounds and School Rooms," etc.

The Domestic Science Department—The domestic science department of the Union School has just finished the 6th year of the regular work of the school course. 140 girls from the 6th, 7th and 8th grades volunteered to take this course.

Judging from the interest and the enthusiasm expressed by the parents both verbal and written communications, the last year has been the most successful.

A splendid collection of food products and examples of materials prepared at home were shown in the kitchen with a result which was surprising to everyone, and enthusiastically complimented by a large number of parents and friends who visited the place during the day.

A meal daintily and tastily prepared for four people at an entire cost of 82 cents attracted considerable attention. A practical outline of the work attempted is given below.

A Course in the Food Study and its Preparation.

This course is intended to give a thorough understanding of the character and values of the food used and preparation of the food materials. The course involves the Human Body, its structure as studied with reference to the relation of pure air, pure water, and development of human organism, and also the study of physical use and effects of the various foods and the correct proportioning of food materials.

Food—Its definition, properties and classification with special study and reference to its chemical and physical properties, and is classified according to the composition and uses in the body.

Food Stuffs—Their production, market value, appearance, selection and care. Appearance and selection are found by means of visiting the markets and shops and a careful selection of the materials used in the preparation of the food.

Cooking Food—Plain, fancy and invalid. Plain cooking includes preparation of simple foods, such as cereals, fruits, vegetables, meats and eggs. Emphasis is placed upon the intelligent and thorough preparation of ordinary materials.

Fancy Cooking—Includes the preparation of salads, pastries and deserts.

Invalid Cooking—Is treated so that the student receives a general idea of the use of food in sickness; the application of hygienic principles in the preparation of food for the sick. Attention is given to the invalid tray, and manner of serving food to the sick.

Serving Food—This course is intended to furnish a knowledge of the nutritious value of common food materials; the food selected with reference to those who eat it.

Home Nursing—This is to give a practical knowledge of the treatment of simple ailment of the human body, and the physical emergencies whereever they may arise; such as fractures, dislocations, burns, uses of bandages and artificial respiration. Note books were made by all members of the class in which were kept receipts, drawings and notes on lectures. The success of this department justifies its adoption as a part of the regular school curriculum in all the Grammar Schools.

The Health of School Children.

The mission of the school should be regarded as three-fold, viz: the acquiring of knowledge, teaching morality, and safeguarding and fostering the health of the children committed to its care. These three interests are so closely wrought together that their relative importance can hardly be compared. In the teachers' meetings, plans are formulated by making observations and tests. Interesting papers were written by different teachers on medical authorities, etc.

Upon the test it was found that some pupils in almost every grade suffer from some physical ailment, such as defective vision, defective hearing, adenoid growths, defective teeth and other structural disabilities.

The names of such children were taken and placed upon the school records for future reference and observation.

So long as the child suffers from these physical defects he is certain to be below par in his school work, and almost certain to become progressively worse in general health.

It was found by correspondence and inquiry that in many places the work of medical supervision is carried on conjointly by the school authorities and City Board of Health. A systematic plan should be inaugurated for devising the best ways and means of securing for each pupil the best physical well being of which he is capable.

It is not fair to the children to neglect them. The State undertakes to educate them and the State or city should at the same time undertake to remove any hindrance to their education which may exist.

An outdoor gymnasium for boys' use during the recess period would be a most valuable addition to the school equipment.

High School.

The character and dignity of this school work is recognized by the University of North Carolina and the State Normal College, and the work has been complimented by the faculty of these different institutions.

The graduates now number 144, many of them are filling positions of responsibility and trust in the city and State. A reasonable estimate of the number entering the school next fall in different classes is as follows:

Freshman	130
Sophomore	55
Junior	45
Senior	25
Total	255

At the present rate of increase it will be necessary in the near future to double the present capacity of the High School It is in the minds of the school committee and others, who are interested, to construct a building with such architectural pretentions and appropriate designs as will be commensurate with the needs of the city and the demands of the times.

Schools for the Negro Race.

It is proper at this time, that more than passing notice should be taken of the work which is being done at the schools for the negro race. Text book instruction, thorough drill in Reading, Writing, Spelling, Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, during the year; and there has been still further emphasized important manual industrial training as a regular part of the school course.

The Domestic Science classes for girls have been successful. Instruction has been given by competent teachers in sewing, dressmaking, and all kinds of plain needle work, including practice in various stitches, and seams, repairing garments, darning, patching, etc., together with instructions in intelligent and skillful use of the sewing machine. A better idea of practical character work can be given from the list of articles placed on exhibition during the closing week of school.

In the Peabody the following articles were shown: Two large quilts, 6 pillow cases, 10 jumpers, 5 dresses, 6 shirt waists, 33 aprons, 4 dressing sacques, 6 kimonas, 18 boys jackets, 2 pillows, also a number of work bags, laundry and shoe bags, suits, towels, etc.

The Williston School Exhibition included; 59 aprons, 55 model dresses, 25 under skirts, 10 comb and brush bags, 12 handkerchief bags, 20 pairs of pillow cases, 29 towels, 3 quilt tops, 40 quilt squares, 12 blocks of patch work, together with examples in darning, patching and mending, etc. This work was done entirely by the children of the school. It was neat, well made and thoroughly finished in every detail. There is no reason why the children should not go out from these schools and accept positions in families, where work of this kind is needed to be done.

In the Williston School the beginning was made in giving a course in Carpentry for the boys. Tools and lumber were furnished, and a creditable showing was made by those who took the course.

The exhibition included four nicely furnished benches, teachers desk, a table and book case. Some repairs were made also on the buildings and premises, including taking down of partitions to enlarge the Assembly Hall, extending stage, and repairing school gates and fences.

It is in the minds of both school committees to extend further this industrial feature, so as to include Cooking, Laundry, and all kinds of Domestic Science; good wages are paid now for cooks and general house work, and better and more intelligent service should be given. The girls who take such a course as this, will be able to take entire charge of the kitchen, to weigh and measure the ingredients, prepare dishes, according to the given receipt, keep simple accounts. The kitchen will be better kept, more hygienic, economical, and scientific.

The boys of the 5th, 6th, and 7th grades ,the three grades of the school, should all be required to take some form of training, in which they can be taught the skillful handling of tools, and the practical knowledge of some of the mechanic arts.

The exhibition of school work in all the grades of the Peabody and Williston Schools, was most creditable, and spoke eloquently of the devotion and interest of both Principals and Teachers, the industry and Earnestness of those who were taught.

eNeds of the School.

The greatest problem which confronts the people of Wilmington today, is the problem of education, and training of their children; it is one which commands earnest consideration, not only by the school committee and the County Board of Education, but also by the co-operation and help of all broad minded and progressive citizens.

Those who have given the matter careful thought, deem it an unwise policy to accommodate more children, either in the Hemenway, or at the Union Schools. On account of the limited space and character of the present structures, it would hardly be safe, sanitary, or practicable

A school building should be placed in both the Northern and Southern parts of the City, and should be provided with accommodations for at least 300 children, which would include three grades, and after passing through these grades, pupils should be advanced to the fourth grades of Union and Hemenway schools; in this way from 4 to 600 children could be accommodated, and the present congestion relieved at once. These schools should become the centers of interest in the community: Libraries, and comfortable reading rooms should be a feature with ample halls for public lectures, and parents meetings and etc.

One of our purposes of this report, is to acquaint the citizens of Wilmington with what is being actually done in their schools, and to present some immediate needs necessary for their future growth and development. Progress must be the watch word in education, as well as in other phases of our civic life.

The educational scheme must be so modified from time to time, as to meet the demands peculiar to the new order of things. The last decade has been marked by radical changes in the matter of transacting business. By means of modern appliances, inventions, and methods, the volume of commerce and trade is something enormous, with what it was a few years ago.

Every City has certain dominant characteristics, whose influence should be felt upon its system of schools. In accordance with this principle, more scientific, mechanical, and industrial training should be offered the boys of the High School, and after the junior year an optional commercial course with a normal training class, and other provision for post graduate work.

I desire to return my sincere thanks and congratulations to the most efficient corps of teachers, to whom is due the credit for whatever success has been attained.

In conclusion, I wish also to thank the members of the committee who have given me their kindly help, and encouragement during the year that has passed.

Yours very truly,

The ship has a cargo of coal and general merchandise and is valued at $500,000. It is believed that by shifting a portion of the cargo the steamer could be gotten off without material damage.

DOES THIS SUIT YOU?

J. Frank Jarman, the enterprising Druggists of 107 Princess street, Wilmington, N. C., are having such a large run on "HINDIPO," the new Kidney Cure and Nerve Tonic, and hear it so highly praised that they now offer to guarantee it in every case to cure all forms of Kidney Troubles and Nervous Disorders.

They pay for it if it does not give you entire satisfaction.

If you use it, it is their risk, not yours. A 50 cent box sent by mail under positive guarantee.

Food Must Digest

You must have nourishment—must stop the irritation due to undigested food. You must end the pain. Kodol does all that, at once and completely. And there is no other way. Please note our guarantee.

These are the results of indigestion:

The undigested food grows hard, and irritates the stomach lining. It causes inflammation—perhaps ulceration. That is the source of the pain.

And that is why occasional indigestion often leads to chronic dyspepsia.

Undigested food ferments and forms gas. That distends the stomach, causing symptoms often called heart trouble.

Undigested food decays and breeds germs. The germs create poisons, and the food ducts of the bowels suck those poisons into the blood. That leads to blood impurity, and all its results. Often to kidney trouble.

Then food that fails to digest is wasted, and the body is robbed of its nourishment. In these ways scores of serious troubles are due solely to indigestion.

The remedy is to relieve the stomach. To let Kodol, for a little time, do its work for it.

Tonics and stimulants only spur the stomach to action. It is like whipping a tired horse.

The food must be digested, for you must have food. And you must stop the irritation. Kodol digests all food, immediately and completely. The result is relief and rest. You will be astonished to see how quickly the stomach recovers then.

Kodol is not like anything else. Most digesters depend almost solely on pepsin, and pepsin digests only albumen.

Starch requires something else; fat something else. A perfect digester must digest every food. And such a digester requires the liquid form.

So Kodol is liquid, like the digestive juices. For this reason its action is instant. Its effect even begins in the mouth, by starting the flow of saliva.

Kodol digests all food completely. This fact is easily proved. And you can prove, just as easily, that other means fail to do that. They affect only part of the food.

Don't look for a cure for dyspepsia. There is none. Nature must do the curing.

Treat the weak stomach as you would a lame ankle. Relieve it and let it rest.

Not by dieting, for that means partial starvation. You need all the food elements, all the nourishment you can get. Eat what you need of the food that you want, and let Kodol digest it.

You won't need Kodol long, unless the trouble is chronic. For most weak stomachs recover very quickly with rest.

Our Guarantee

We ask you to prove, at our risk, that the facts are as we state them. Buy a large bottle of Kodol, and ask your druggist for the signed guarantee. If you are not satisfied, take the empty bottle back with the warrant, and your druggist will return your money. There will be no quibble or question.

This offer applies to the large bottles only, and to but one in a family. That is sufficient to prove. Then please tell others how much Kodol does.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1.00 bottle contains 2½ times as much as the 50c bottle.

BUG DEATH

One of the great growers of seed potatoes in Maine who has made a life study of Irish potatoes, has demonstrated beyond question that it is impossible to apply Paris Green to potato vines in any quantity without weakening the vitality of the tuber. Bug Death will not injure the plant but will stimulate its growth. It will not wash off, it is perfectly harmless to animals and people, and has a wonderful power to prevent blight, rust and those diseases so generally prevalent among melons and vegetables.

THE Princess Virginia

By C. N. and A. M. WILLIAMSON,

Authors of "The Lightning Conductor," "Rosemary in Search of a Father," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

"I've had a telegram—a horrible telegram. Oh, Virginia, I am not young, as you are! I am too old to endure all this. I think you should not have subjected me to it."

The grand duchess' voice was plaintive and pried among the girl's sick nerves like hot wire.

"What do you mean, dear? I do not understand," she said dully. "I'm so sorry you are ill. If it's my fault in any way I"—

Her mother pointed toward a writing table. "The telegram is there," she murmured. "It is too distressing—too humiliating."

Virginia picked up a crumpled telegraph form and began to read the message, which was dated London and written in English:

Some one making inquiries here about the Mowbrays. Beg to advise you to explain all at at once or leave Kronburg to avoid almost certain complications.

LAMBERT.

Lady Lambert was the wife of the ex-ambassador to the court of Rhaetia from Great Britain.

The princess finished in silence.

"Isn't it hideous?" asked the grand duchess. "To think that you and I should have deliberately placed ourselves in such a position! We are to run away, like detected adventuresses, unless—unless you are now ready to tell the emperor all."

"No," said Virginia hopelessly.

"What! Not yet? Oh, my dear, then you must bring matters to a crisis—instantly—tonight even. It's evident that some enemy, perhaps some jealous person, has been at work behind our backs. It is for you to turn the tables upon him, and there isn't an hour to waste. From the first you meant to make some dramatic revelation. Now the time has come."

"Ah, I meant—I meant!" echoed Virginia, with a sob breaking the ice in her voice. "Nothing has turned out as I meant. You were right, dear; I was wrong. We ought never to have come to Rhaetia."

The grand duchess grew paler than before. She had been vaguely distressed. Now she was sharply alarmed. If Virginia admitted that this great adventure should never have been undertaken, then indeed the earth must be quaking under their feet.

"Ought not—to have come?" she repeated piteously. "What dreadful thing has happened?"

The princess stood with bent head. "It's hard to tell," she said, "harder almost than anything I ever had to do. But it must be done. Everything's at an end, dear."

"What—you've told him, and he has refused to forgive?"

"He knows nothing."

"For heaven's sake, don't keep me in suspense!"

Virginia's lips were dry. "He asked me to be his wife," she said. "Oh, wait—wait! Don't look happy. You don't understand, and I didn't at first. He had to explain, and he put the thing as little offensively as he could. Oh, mother, he thinks me only good enough to be his morganatic wife!"

The storm had burst at last, and the princess fell on her knees by the sofa, where, burying her face in her mother's lap, she sobbed as if parting with her youth.

There had always been mental and temperamental barriers between the Dresden china lady and her daughter, but they loved each other, and never had the girl been so dear to her mother as now. The grand duchess thought of the summer day when Virginia had knelt beside her, saying, "We are going to have an adventure, you and I."

Alas, the adventure was over, and summer and hope were dead! Tears trembled in the mother's eyes. Poor little Virginia, so young, so inexperienced and, in spite of her self will and recklessness, so sweet and loving withal!

"But, dear, you are making the worst of things," the grand duchess said soothingly, her hand on the girl's bright hair. "Why, instead of crying you ought to be smiling, I think. Leopold must love you desperately or he would never have proposed marriage, even morganatic marriage. Just at first the idea must have shocked you, knowing who you are. But, remember, if you were Miss Mowbray it would have been a triumph. Many women of high position have married royalty morganatically, and every one has respected them. You seem to forget that the emperor knows you only as Helen Mowbray."

"He ought to have known that Helen Mowbray was not the girl to consent—no, not more easily than Virginia of Baumenburg-Drippe. He should have understood without telling that to a girl with Anglo-Saxon blood in her veins such an offer would be like a blow over the heart."

"How should he understand it? He is Rhaetian. His point of view"—

"His point of view to me is terrible. Oh, mother, it's useless to argue! Everything is spoiled. Of course if he knew I was Princess Virginia he would be sorry for what he had proposed, even if he thought I'd brought it on myself. But then it would be too late. Don't you understand? I valued his love because it was given to me, not the princess. If he said, 'Now I know you I can offer my right hand instead of my left to you as my wife,' that would not be the same thing at all. No; there's nothing left but to go home, and the emperor of Rhaetia must be told that Virginia of Baumenburg-Drippe has decided not to marry. That will be our one revenge, but a pitiful one, since he'll never know that the princess who refuses his right hand and the Helen Mowbray who wouldn't take his left are one and the same. Oh, mother, I did love him so! Let us get out of this hateful house as soon as we can."

The grand duchess knew her daughter and abandoned hope. "Yes, if you will not forgive him we must go at once and save our dignity if we can," she said. "The telegram will give us our excuse. I told the baroness I had received bad news, and she asked permission to knock at my door before going to bed and inquire how I was feeling. She may come at any moment. We must say that the telegram recalls us immediately to England."

"Listen!" whispered Virginia. "I think there's some one at the door now."

Baroness von Lyndal stood aghast on hearing that she was to be deserted early in the morning by the bright particular star of her house party—after the emperor. She begged that Lady Mowbray would reconsider; that she would wire to England instead of going, or, at all events, that she would wait for one day more until Leopold's visit to Schloss Lyndalberg should be over.

In her anxiety she even failed in tact when she found arguments useless. "But the emperor?" she objected. "If you go off early in the morning before he or any one comes down, what will he think? What will he say at being cheated out of his au revoir?"

The grand duchess hesitated. But Virginia answered firmly: "I said goodby to him tonight. The emperor—will understand."

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

BREAKFAST at Schloss Lyndalberg was an informal meal under the reign of Mechtilde. Those who were sociably inclined appeared. Those who loved not their species until the day was older ate in their rooms.

Leopold had shown himself at the table each morning, however, and set the fashion. And the day after the parting in the garden he was earlier even than usual. It was easy to be early, as he had not been to bed that night, but he had an extra incentive. He could scarcely wait to see how Helen Mowbray would meet him—whether she would still be cold or whether sound advice from her mother would have made her kind.

This was his last day at Lyndalberg. By his special request no programme of entertainment had been arranged, and before coming down to breakfast Leopold had been turning over in his mind plan after plan for another chance of meeting the girl alone. He had even written a letter, but had torn it up because he was unable to say on paper what was really in his heart.

Breakfast passed, however, and when she did not appear Leopold grew restless. He did not ask for her before the others, but when he and the baroness had strolled out together on the terrace, where white peacocks spread their jeweled tails, the emperor sought some opportunity of bringing in the name that filled his thoughts.

"I see the red October lilies are opening," he said. "Miss Mowbray will be interested. She tells me there's nothing like them in England."

"Ah, she has gone just too soon!" sighed the baroness.

The emperor glanced quickly from the mass of crimson flowers to his hostess' face. "Gone?" he repeated.

"Yes," the baroness answered. "They must have reached Kronburg before this. You know, they left their companion there. Perhaps your majesty did not realize that they were leaving here quite so early?"

He turned so white under the brown tan the mountains had given that the baroness was alarmed. She had taken Virginia's words as Virginia had meant her to take them and therefore supposed that a formal farewell of some sort had been spoken. This impression did not prevent her from guessing that there must have been a misunderstanding, and she was tingling with a lively curiosity which she was obliged carefully to hide.

The romance which had been enacted under her eyes she believed to be largely of her own making, and, not being a bad hearted woman, she had grown fond of Virginia. She had even had pangs of conscience, and, though she did not see the way for a happy ending to the pretty drama, it distressed her that the curtain should go down on sadness.

"I did not know they were going at all," Leopold answered frankly, willing to sacrifice his pride for the sake of coming quickly at the truth.

"Oh," exclaimed the baroness, "I am distressed! Miss Mowbray distinctly said when I begged that they would wait, 'The emperor will understand.'"

"I do understand—now I know they have gone," he admitted. "But Miss Mowbray thinks she has some cause of complaint against me, and she's mistaken. I can't let such a mistake go uncorrected. You say they must be at Kronburg before this. Are they staying on there?"

"I'm afraid not, your majesty. They leave Kronburg for England today by the Orient express."

"Do you happen to remember at what hour the train starts?"

"I believe at 12."

Leopold pulled out his watch. It was twenty minutes past 11. Forty times sixty seconds and the girl would be gone!

The blood rushed to his face. Barring accidents, he could catch her if he ordered his motor car and left at once. But to cut short his visit at Schloss Lyndalberg would be virtually to take the world into his secret. Let him allege important state business at the capital if he chose, gossip would still say that the girl had fled; that he had pursued her. The baroness knew already. Others would chatter as if they knew. That was inevitable—if he went.

A month ago, when yielding to inclination meant humbling his pride as emperor and man, such a question would have answered itself. Now it answered itself also, the only difference being that the answer was exactly opposite to what it would have been a month earlier.

"Baroness, forgive me," he said quickly. "I must go. I can't explain."

"You need not try," she answered softly.

"Thank you a hundred times. Make everything as straight for me as you can. Say what you will. I give you carte blanche, for we're old friends, and I trust you."

"It's for me to thank your majesty. You want your motor car?"

"Yes."

"I'll telephone. Your chauffeur will have it here in six minutes. And your aid-de-camp. Will you"—

"I don't want him, thanks. I'd rather go alone."

Seven minutes later the big white motor car was at the door which was the private entrance to the emperor's suit, and the emperor was waiting for it, having forgotten all about the sable lined coat which had been a present from the czar. If it had been midwinter he would have forgotten, just the same, nor would he have known that it was cold.

There was plenty of time now to carry out his plan, which was to catch the Orient express at the Kronburg station and present himself to the Mowbrays in the train later. As to what would happen afterward, it was beyond planning, but Leopold knew that the girl had loved him, and he hoped that he would have Lady Mowbray on his side.

The only way of reaching Kronburg from Schloss Lyndalberg was by road. There was no railway connection between the two places. But the town and the castle were separated by a short eight miles, and until checked by traffic in the suburbs the sixty horsepower car could cover a mile in less than two minutes.

Unfortunately, however, police regulations were strict, and of this Leopold could not complain, as he had approved them himself. Once he was stopped and would certainly not have been allowed to proceed had he not revealed himself as the emperor, the owner of the one unnumbered car in Rhaetia. As it was, he had suffered a delay of five minutes, and just as he was congratulating himself on the goodness of his tires, which had made him no trouble for many weeks, a loud report as of a pistol shot gave warning of a puncture.

But there was not a moment to waste on repairs. Leopold drove on on the rims, only to acknowledge presently the truth of an old proverb, "The more haste the less speed."

Delayed by a torn and flapping tire, the car arrived at the big central station of Kronburg only five minutes before 12. Leopold dashed in, careless whether he were recognized or not, and was surprised at the absence of the crowd which usually throngs the platform before the departure of the most important train of the day.

"Is the Orient express late?" he asked of an inspector to whom he was but a man among other men.

"No, sir. Just on time. Went out five minutes ago."

"But it isn't due to start till 12."

"Summer time table, sir. Autumn time table takes effect today, the 1st of October. Orient express departure changed to 11:50."

An unreasoning rage against fate boiled in the emperor's breast. He ruled this country, yet everything in it seemed to conspire in a plot to wreck his dearest desires.

For a few seconds he stood speechless, feeling as if he had been dashed against a blank wall and there were no way of getting around it. Yet the seconds were but few, for Leopold was not a man of slow decisions.

His first step was to inquire the name of the town at which the Orient express stopped soonest. In three hours, he learned, it would reach Felgarde, the last station on the Rhaetian side of the frontier.

His first thought on hearing this was to engage a special and follow. But even in these days there is much red tape entangled with railway regulations in Rhaetia. It soon appeared that it would be quicker to take the next train to Felgarde, which was due to leave in half an hour and would arrive only an hour later than the Orient express.

Leopold's heart was chilled, but he shook off despondency and would not be discouraged. Telephoning to the hotel where the Mowbrays had been stopping, he learned that they had gone. Then he wrote out a telegram:

Miss Helen Mowbray, Traveling From Kronburg to Paris by Orient Express, Care of Station Master at Felgarde:

I implore you leave the train at Felgarde and wait for me. Am following in all haste. Will arrive Felgarde one hour after you and hope to find you at Leopoldhof.

So far the wording was simple. He had signified his intention and expressed his wish, which would have been more than enough to assure the accomplishment of his purpose had he been dealing with a subject. Unfortunately, however, Helen Mowbray was not a subject and had exhibited no sign of subjection. It was therefore futile to prophesy whether or no she would choose to grant his request.

He wrote another, which he signed "Leo, the Chamois Hunter."

Its Use in Kidney and Bladder Troubles, as a Table Water, Etc.

Dr. S. WESTRAY BATTLE, of Asheville, N. C., Surgeon U. S. Navy, retired, Member N. C. Medical Society N. C. Board of Health, American Public Health Association, American Medical Association, Etc., says.

"I cannot even now begin to tell you of the merits of the Lincoln Lithia Water. I cannot speak in too high praise of the water. With a fair share of experience in the use of the mineral waters of this country and of Europe, Lincoln Lithia Water is easily the most acceptable of its class within the range of my knowledge. In appropriate cases, I firmly believe, without any sort of reservation, that its exhibition will be followed by marked benefit. I have ordered it largely, and its effects have been most gratifying. Aside from its specific effects in kidney and bladder difficulties and gastric disorders, it is in every way a most desirable table water, delightfully palatable and safe. I cheerfully endorse it, and shall continue to do so as long as the spring furnishes the potable fluid that now comes to us from Lincolnton. I only wish we had such water here where thousands come from all parts of the earth seeking health and recreation."

In Chronic Rheumatic Complaints, Vesical and Urethral Irritation.

B. D. EVANS, M. D., Medical Director of the New Jersey State Hospital, Morris Plains, N. J.: LINCOLN LITHIA WATER has been used quite extensively in this hospital during the last twelve months. The most happy results have followed its use in Chronic Rheumatic Complaints, and in Vesical and Urethral Irritation where there was frequent and painful urination with Hyperacidity of the Urine. In the latter class of cases its action has been prompt in giving relief.

"The Various standard Lithia Waters have been used in this hospital, but I place LINCOLN LITHIA WATER Second to none of them.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 27.—The dry goods market was quiet today. Cotton goods were somewhat firmer. Cotton yarns are in more general request. Burlaps are easier here and abroad. Linens are quiet and firm.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star)

New York, June 27.—The dull and sluggish stock market continues to show the reluctance of professional operators to follow transactions from a fixed price level. Mr. Morgan's optimistic outgiving before his departure for Europe brought prices up somewhat from the declines caused earlier in the week in sympathy with the break in the Rock Island securities. The average level of the market having returned near to last Saturday's closing level, the movement practically ceased today. Net changes on the week will be found to be insignificant except in special cases. There was nothing in today's news to stir the market from its apathy. Bankers are discussing the probability of an early call from the treasury department for return of another large installment of government deposits owing to the continuing heavy deficit in government reserves. The money market gives evidence of such redundancy, however, that little attention is paid to anything threatening a reduction of supplies. Some curiosity is shown over possible further demands for gold from Berlin and Paris after the turn of the half year. London reports large offerings of Berlin paper in that money market on spite of the relaxation of discounts at the German capital. Paris also is expected to take next Monday's supply of gold in the London market. Nevertheless, money is expected to become plethoric in New York, after the turn of the half year. The bond market today was appreciably firm, although very dull and this may represent demand for reinvestment of July 1st disbursements. This demand is so slight as to be unimportant in contrast with past re-investment periods. Weather conditions of the day were favorable for crops. There was some slight selling in the dealings by yesterday's discouraged buyers. The bank statement revealed a surplus reserve of over $66,000,000 and explains the feeling of assurance of present provisions against all early contingencies.

A sharp advance in Burlington joint 4s was a feature of the bond market which was firm. Total sales, par value $816,000. United States 2s have declined 1-2 and the 3s 1-4 per cent. on call during the week. Total sales of stocks today were 117,300 shares.

FINANCIAL MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star)

New York, June 27.—Money on call nominal. Time loans quiet and firm, sixty days 2 per cent., and ninety days 2 1-4 per cent., six months 3 1-2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 3 1-2 to 4 per cent. Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers bills at 4.87 for demand and at 4.8570 for sixty day bills. Commercial bills 4.85 1-4 to 4.85 3-8. Bar silver 53 3-4. Mexican dollars 46.

WEEKLY BANK STATEMENT.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 27.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $66,028,800 more than the requirements of 25 per cent. reserve rule. This is an increase of $7,386,925 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week. The statement follows:

Loans $1,231,220,800, decrease $8,701,300; deposits $1,320,176,400, decrease $1,082,1000; circulation $56,089,200, decrease $806,500; legal tenders $79,472,700, increase $2,563,500; specie $316,670,200, increase $4,552,900; reserve $396,142,900, increase $7,116,400; reserve required $330,044,100, decrease $270,525; surplus $66,098,800, increase $7,376,329; excess of United States deposits $70,858,725, increase $7,333,425. The percentage of actual reserve of the clear house banks at the close of business yesterday was 30.63. The statement of banks and trust companies of Greater New York not members of the clearing house shows that these institutions have aggregating deposits of $974,765,900; total cash on hand $76,243,700 and loans amounting to $905,177,800.

CONVENTION PREPARATIONS

CONVENTION OFFICERS

(By Wire to the Morning Star)

Denver, Colo., June 27.—Theodore A. Bell, of California, was today chosen temporary chairman of the Democratic National convention by the committee on convention arrangement.

No selection was made for the permanent chairman. This matter went over until the meeting of the full committee can be held. The most prominently mentioned ones in this connection are Representative Henry Clayton, of Alabama and Judson Harmon, of Ohio. Governor Joseph W. Folk, of Missouri, and Senator Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas, are also strongly favored.

For secretary are mentioned Urey Woodson, Roger C. Sullivan, of Illinois, R. M. Johnston, of Texas, James C. Dahlman, of Nebraska; Norman E. Mack, of New York, and Governor John E. Osborne, of Wyoming.

Two members, John T. McGraw, of West Virginia, and Clark Howell, of Georgia, were absent, the proxy of the former being held by Mr. Sullivan, of Illinois, while Mr. Urey Woodson represented Mr. Howell.

It was rumored early in the day that Roger C. Sullivan, of Illinois, who is chairman of the committee on convention arrangements, might head a fight against the selection of Mr. Bell, as chairman. It was said that while Bell was known to be favored by William J. Bryan, he was not ardently desired by Mr. Sullivan and some of his friends, and the report was that six votes out of a total of nine would be cast against him when his name was mentioned. No fight developed, however, and the temporary chairman was selected unanimously within a few minutes after the committee met and without another name being suggested. R. M. Johnston, of Texas, offered the motion selecting Mr. Bell as temporary chairman, and it was promptly adopted.

It was decided to leave the selection of chaplains, except at the opening session of the convention, with Chairman Taggart, of the national committee and the appointment of additional secretaries and sergeants-at-arms with Secretary Woodson and Sergeant-atArms Martin respectively. The number of reading and tally clerks was put at a maximum of fifteen.

The committee then took up the question of seating the delegates and alternates already chosen from the Philippine islands, and after a brief discussion it was decided that the precedent established by the National convention of 1904 of seating the Philippine delegates with the alternates, and without votes, should be followed. The national convention in 1904 decided that the delegates could not be received because the islands were not properly a part of the United States and that no delegates to a national convention could be legally sent from there.

A lengthy discussion of the apportionment of tickets occupied the committee until it adjourned. No settlement was reached and the entire matter went over until Tuesday, when another meeting will be held.

The demand for tickets of admission has been unprecedented.

Because of the tremendous pressure which is being brought upon the members of the national committee for admission it is possible that the sessions of the convention may be temporarily halted while processions composed of people who have been unable to secure tickets are allowed to pass through the hall for the purpose of witnessing the great convention.

The selection of the temporary chairman was in direct accord with the wishes of Mr. Bryan as announced several days ago. He said that he strongly favored former Representative Bell and Representative Henry Clayton, of Alabama ,for the temporary and permanent chairmanships, and while he was not particular as to which man held either position, he believed that they should between them preside over the entire deliberations of the convention.

Mayor James C. Dahlman of Omaha, a warm personal friend of Mr. Bryan and a member of the sub-committee, arrived in Denver early today and brought with him the latest news from Lincoln. He declared that the position of Mr. Bryan as to the chairmanships was unchanged.

Mayor Dahlman was generally credited with having in his possession a copy of the platform which is to be submitted to the convention, but he did not bring it. 'I talked with Mr. Bryan about the platform," he said, "but that is all. It is not drawn up so far as I know, at least not in definite form. There is no mystery about the platform which will be adopted by the Democratic convention. It is generally understood throughout the country on what sort of a platform Mr. Bryan is willing to stand, and the public knows as much about it as I do."

When asked whether or not an "injunction" plank will be inserted in the platform, Mayor Dahlman admitted that in this respect the platform of the coming convention would probably differ from that of the former Bryan platforms. He declared, however, that nothing yet had been determined in this respect and in all possibility the entire matter would await a probable visit of a number of men prominent in the labor movement to Mr. Bryan at his home in Lincoln. This conference, he said, might be held in the earl ypart of next week.

The members of the convention committee were tonight entertained at a dinner by Robert W. Speer, and tomorrow they will make an excursion into the northern part of the State, returning by Monday morning.

THE VARSITY ANNUALS

Syracuse Wins 'Varsity Race—Wisconsin's Mishap—Syracuse Also Wins Four-Oared Race—Cornell Wide.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27.—Swinging their sweeps with powerful strokes which carried their slender shell through the water at all but record pace, the Syracuse 'Varsity crew today won the big 4-mile race for university eight-oared crews. They headed Columbia by less than one-third of a length, and Cornell by a bare length at the finish line, after one of the most hotly contested and most interesting regattas in the eleven years' history of collegiate racing on the Hudson course. Incidentally Syracuse took from Cornell the trophy which is the token of victory in this race—the 'Varsity challenge cup, presented in 1898 by Dr. Louis L. Seaman, of Cornell. Syracuse has had the trophy only once before—in 1904—and Cornell has lost it on this course only twice, once to Syracuse in 1904 and twice in succession to Pennsylvania—in 1899 and 1900. Pennsylvania won it from Cornell also in 1898 on Saratoga Lake.

The crew from Syracuse won by the power behind her blades, and by superior watermanship. Columbia and Cornell rowed finely throughout the contest and pressed the winner hard in the last mile. Pennsylvania's eight made the pace for nearly three miles and then went to pieces, finishing six lengths behind Cornell.

Wisconsin was reckoned as a contender until the three mile mark was passed at Poughkeepsie bridge, when J. W. Wilse, No. 2, collapsed and put the Western crew out of the contest. He soon recovered and the Wisconsin men rowed bravely on, even though Wilse fell over on his oar again. He again revived sufficiently to swing an oar as the Wisconsin crew swept over the finish line, more than a minute behind Syracuse. The winner was greeted by the roar of many voices, the shrieks of whistles and sirens and the reports of exploding bombs set off from the bridge.

Syracuse won also the race for University four oared shells for the Kennedy challenge trophy—leading the Pennsylvania crew over the line by nearly two lengths and covering the distance of two miles in 10 minutes and 52 4-5 seconds.

Columbia crossed the line third, three lengths behind Pennsylvania which had fouled the Columbia boat in the last half mile of the contest. The judges disqualified Pennsylvania and awarded Columbia the place of honors. Syracuse was the actual winner, but many felt that but for a mishap Cornell would have won this race. There are no coxswains in this race and the shells are steered by the bow oar. Cornell went wide of her course and ran her boat's sharp prow plumb into the marking buoy at the one and a quarter mile mark, and the craft stuck there until help arrived. When the collision occurred she had a lead of four lengths and was drawing rapidly away from her competitors. The record for the four oar race is held by the Syracuse crew of 1905 which made the distance in 10 minutes and 15 2-5 seconds.

Cornell carried off the two mile race for freshmen eight-oared shells for the Steward's Cup, in handy fashion, going over the course in 9 minutes, 29 3-5 seconds, three lengths of open water ahead of Syracuse. Columbia was third, Wisconsin fourth and Pennsylvania fifth. Wisconsin won this race last year, Syracuse in 1906, Cornell, in 1905. The best time over the course is 9 minutes and 18 seconds, made by Cornell in 1903.

A CONFERENCE AT OYSTER BAY

Secertary Taft and His Successor Meet President Roosevelt There.

AN OFFICIAL CONFERENCE

Between the President and the Retiring and New Secretary of War. Politics Came in—Taft's Letter to Await the Platform.

New York, June 27.—After a four hours' political conference at Oyster Bay with President Roosevelt, General Luke E. Wright, National Committeeman Frank B. Kellogg, of Minnesota, and W. L. Ward, of New York, Secretary Taft left there at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon in an automobile for this city, arriving here in the record-breaking time one hour and 30 minutes. The car was a big 60-horse power touring machine, and the chauffeur ran it fast from the start, making the first 14 miles in 19 minutes, much to the delight of Secretary Taft, who enjoyed the pace. He left for Washington at 5:25 o'clock. On his trip down he was accompanied by General Clarence R. Edwards, chief of insular affairs in the War Department and James Williams, his political lieutenant. When asked about the conference at Sagamore Hill, Secretary Taft said that he went to talk over matters with the President and General Wright in connection with the War Department, the headship of which General Wright will assume July 1. Affairs in Cuba, Panama and the Philippines were principally discussed. There are three vacancies in the Philippine commission to be filled, one of which will go to a native.

It is understood that the Secretary will not finish his address until after the Democratic platform will have been adopted at Denver, because there are likely to be some planks in it that he may wish to discuss. After this address the Secretary will return to Hot Springs where he will remain until September 11, when he will furnish his formal letter of acceptance of the nomination of the Presidency. Then the real work of the campaign will begin.

General Luke Wright left Oyster Bay after the conference to spend the night with Governor Ide, of the Philippines, at Port Washington, L. I., but he will leave Sunday for Washington to familiarize himself with War Department matters. He said today: "It is necessary for me to get on the job at once, as there are a great many matters that need attention. I appreciate that this position is more serious than most people imagine."

HARVARD AND YALE.

The Former Defeats Yale in the Baseball Game.

New York, June 27.—Harvard took the final athletic honors of the college year from Yale today, capping her victory in the 'Varsity boat race at New London on Thursday and her base ball victory at Cambridge last week with the capture of the final game in the annual series from the team of "Old Eli" at the Polo grounds by the score of 9 to 5.

A typical crowd of 15,000 college enthusiasts witnessed the game, their crimson and blue pennants brightening the grand stand and bleachers. Their songs and yells and bursts of spontaneous applause and cheering made the scene one of continuous animation. The game itself, although marked by loose fielding was exciting enough. There was plenty of heavy hitting, including two home runs, Aronson for Harvard batted one, and Williams of Yale, the other. The score:

Yale	000	211	100	5	10	5
Harvard	006	210	00*	9	10	1
